So much to do, So little done ...

"I neither know where to begin nor where to end because I feel the story of my life has not been one of achievements only a series of (most times self inflicted) solitaire confinements ."

"It's a Cold Stone Fact!"

BACK IN THE DAYS OF EMIL

The last year as been a testament to how much we are willing to walk away from, how much we are willing to just give up and what we seem more than willing put up with in exchange for a fleeting promise of safety/security...maybe, the random belief that we can trust the same government of lifetime-appointed accounting clerks that we spent a lifetime mistrusting – with much good cause.

Thank God's good graces that he sent Emil who is more than willing to tell all of us emperors that we have no clothes on and is bold enough to wage a verbal war with the Great Society Reset's Warriors of Untruth and whose books harken us back to a now near mystical time before the Plague Virus Lockdowns swept us away.

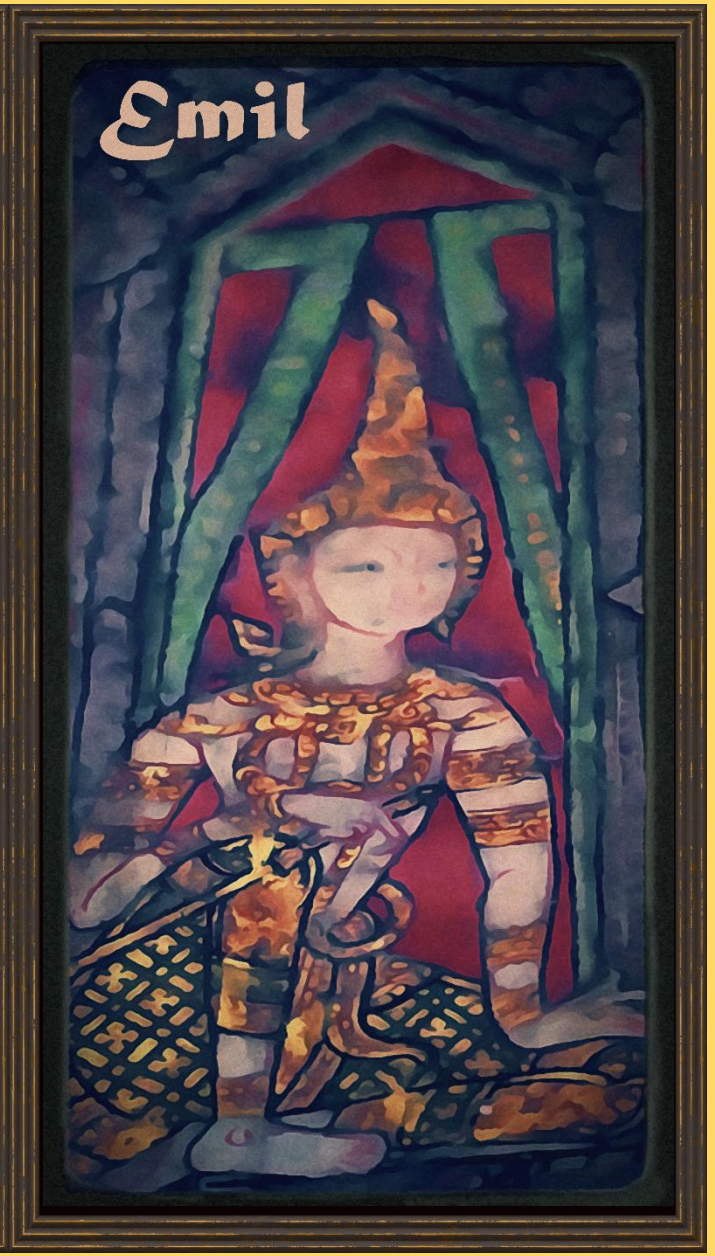
I have grown rather long in face due to the plague of the virus lockdown that I can now foresee as truly a life sentence to semi-solitaire confinement here in this windowless, cell in this virus lodge house for all of us Foreign Devils.
See for yourself, if I am speaking to truth or just pissing in the wind...(Not my line...Jerry Jeff Walker wrote that...I stole it from him as he has been dead for quite a while and his former manager doesn't read my TWITs or TWATTERs...

"It's a Cold Stone Fact!"



"It's a Cold Stone Fact!"

"TWO SPEAKERS OF TRUTH LAY DEAD IN STORYVILLE..."

This thought came to me as I lay here in what I assume is the early hours of the dawn but seeing that my cell room here in the Virus Lodge doesn't have a window; it might well be Noon...as that 1970's singing group weaves a tale of desperados and unlikely heroes; it is "A Cold Stone Fact.." that none of us will ever experience the world as it was back in those now mystical days before the CCP Virus Plague rode in to town and shot the sheriff (truth) in the head and replaced him with his evil twin (untruth). Indeed! It all happened so fast, none of us saw it coming as we were so caught up in our every day toils that we ignored the warning signs all together and christened the prophets of it's coming as heretics, anti-social kooks.

Let me stop here as I did promise (again) that this book would not be me up on my soapbox wearing my Tin-Foil Bowler's Cap and even though, I have been spot on what has come to pass; Seine said that his crack marketing team have done a survey of potential readers and found that they were tired of me rubbing their nose in it like a naughty puppy.

I would venture a guess that their survey was more directly the result (speaking truth to power) of them going down to the nearby food court and asking ten or twelve merchants about this while having an extended lunch to which they seriously billed to my expense account or maybe just, it's wishful thinking on their part.

Deep breathe...Bubba...let it go!
It will do me no good as I am stranded here in Penang's version of Storyville and the marketing team rides in posse with the dead sheriff's, evil-half brother (untruth).
Let's start over, OK?
Seine wanted a picture book of pre-plague era visions and thoughts...maybe, he said add "some space aliens but no border fence lingo!"
Campers! He is the man who sign's off on my expense account and to be blunt...as I always am...I am but a poor sharecropper who has sold my lands to the big corporate plantation and I have a serious debt issue at the company

Tuesday's Child never comes...or so, the ole song use to tell us...

"LIVING IN CONFUSING TIMES"

The two greatest demons to mankind are "time" and "thinking." Both are separate but, in truth, each are deeply dependent of the other and they were collectively design to wreak havoc and bring collective misery to all of us average folks by our true slave masters of Humanity's Elite.

My brother John was famous for his quote that:
"A mind is a terrible thing!"

To his main point, the "Art of Thinking" is a rich man's sport as you need much time to acquire any level of perfection and without a "shitload" of cash to support your idleness; you will NOT live long enough to see fruit from this venture in self-awareness.

WWWG Productions Ltd. Singapore – All Rights Reserved 2021

"It's a Cold Stone Fact!"

"LIVING IN CONFUSING TIMES"

See he is saying that thinking/self-awareness have by design as a safe zone sanctuary that the rich use to retreat from all of the economic/social sins that they committed in their path to wealth.

His classic point that he would reference was the Buddha who had he not been an extremely wealthy prince, he would have never had the freedom to sit under a shade tree and spend all those years seeking enlightenment.

To his points, I do vigorously agree and have a like mind to believe that it is a true conspiracy instigated in ancient times by our original slave masters against the vast majority of us who must hustle daily up here on the street corner to raise a nickel, a dime to keep our families alive.

In many ways, I go beyond my brother's formulation of the "Sins of the Elites!" as he was mostly self-taught and sadly died long before he ever reach the level of a seasoned, master thinker; so I am here to enlighten all of my fellow campers to the fact(s) that this is/was always nothing but a sheer power grab of social control by Humanity's Elite and their evil attempt to create a "membership only" restriction on the ability of proper thought by the vast majority of us untouchables. Having not the luxury or economic means to properly prefect our thinking we are dependent on the "Elite" of society and media to teach us what to think/believe to be the truth. In a perfect, Greek City State form of Elitist

Rule, we might well put our faith in the wisdom of our Elitist Elders as they rose to power through merits and deeds of courage.

Sadly, we no longer live in such a world and our society's elevation of our social, moral elders is based wealth, connections and birthrights rather than actual wisdom or pure thought.

We live in a society that values wealth as goodness and is very medieval in that the vast majority of us common folks have been brainwashed to believing (as they did in the Middle Ages) that the wealthy are selected, rewarded with their wealth by a thankful God and that is why they deserve our reverence to yield the road to their wisdom or thoughts.

In our society, Mother Theresa is superficially respected but, is often dismissed by the majority while Billy Gates (a college dropout and ruthless business man) is far more listened to and people automatically trust more in his wisdom/moral judgement over her pureness because "if she was all that...God would have made her Billy Gates!" Without even knowing or maybe, even truly without caring by vast numbers of us common working blokes; we have happily surrendered our God given "Creation Rights" to "Free Thought" and allow the great decisions of our collective society to be made by an unholy collection of trust fund babies/Greedy Corporations/WOKE TWIT

Warriors and Corrupt Politico who happily do the bidding of their own slave master – their paymasters at the CCP.
Was I a man of leisure and had the freedom of time to enlighten myself, I might have the acquired ability to get you all to truthfully understand the utter wickedness that has befallen us in the name of a fake, semi-safe, life in proper society.
Given a different luck of birthright passage, I might well be able to give you a simple pill of truth and you could see how we are actually living a Matrix-like World and I could set all of you Campers FREE.
More than likely, I fancy myself as being the instrument to FREE your minds and bring equality of thought to all humankind but, the truth would properly be far different with me not having the social credit score to solicit your attention or maybe, I would lack the sheer courage to turn on traditions laid down since the dawn of our recorded "Elitist Time" in history.

See...if I did have the proper benefit of unlimited time or financial resources to back my endeavor; who know what I or for that matter, you could bring to the table of Humanity's Forbidden History of hundreds of thousands of years where the vast majority of us were sold the biggest lie of all the untruths - that we are now forced to accept as the God's Honest Truth.

I understand that this will unlikely happen within my generation or even my lifetime as those who have (even when they don't experience or see it even themselves) the power of thought are too protective of the advantages that thinking brings and that they look down upon all of us working blokes as Rubes or pawns that need to be keep in the blindness for the greater good of the status-quo of the proper society which their birthright gave them total access to.

While there are those amongst us (like my brother John) who have attempted to raise to this challenge; they have mostly paid a terrible price of the wrath of the Elite's Minority if they were not bribed or corrupted like the Hippy/Yippy Leaders of the 1960's Counter-Culture Uprising were.

The price of FREE Thinking is met with the "Canceling" of one's career, livelihood, and depletion of your social credit score or even banishment outside of the massive gates to even the far-most reaches of proper society.
Those few brave souls who raise up and dare say that "Society's New Suit is Nakedness..." are swiftly and presently cast into society's ash heap and we are WOKELY told to not discuss or pounder their bad fate or take note of the concentration camps out in the Western Deserts.
I witnessed just the other day, a minor pinon in the grander scheme of the gangster rule of nearly a third of humanity's common folks by the CCP; he was upset that the world would call out their mass genocide of millions of people and that it was not WOKE "polite" of the world to do so and how even Pappy Biden dismissed the forced imprisonment of millions of innocent souls to be a minor manor of cultural differences.

Granted...Pappy Biden has a long history of being a made-man for these CCP Gangsters and since they have been paying his family's bills for several a generation now; we would expect some lame shit like that from him...

"Can't anger your paymaster, can you, Pappy?"

While turning a blind eye to such evilness is a norm of the Elitist as they like Pappy sold their souls for a quick paycheck or an actual piece of the action; this is how different than if President Roosevelt had dismissed/accepted Nazi Genocide as a mere "cultural" difference between our nations?

Much evil lies unspoken because the vast majority of us are not given the privilege of time to think.

Much is forgiven in the name of the new dawn of the Corporate Gangster's' Brave New Age of Social Norms and less even more is mentioned that the core of this new social order is to retreat us to Medieval Times when the Elites (now our Corporate Slave Masters) rule by Devine Right of God's power and wisdom.

Truly, Lucifer (who now sets in on the CCP Central Committee Sessions on a regular) is King of this new age and order.

Welcome Campers to this brave, new Medieval Age of WOKENESS which is spiritually controlled by software supplied by our Barons of Technology and self-proclaimed owners of the Internet –those who makes their vast fortune off of the slave market selling of your personal data.

Seeing that I have recently been told that my social credit score is negative to like 10,000 or more points (growing daily as I post more); what do I have to lose?

Truth as we once knew it no longer tenable as it has become subjective, it is constantly twisted, turned and spun into a weird pretzel entanglement of this new age where our new Masters, our Tech Overlords now openly try to control the final word on "what is truth?' as a broken means to promote whatever product that they are currently selling to their cadre of TWIT WOKE Warriors or they market on the backend to all the rest of us, the Great Unwashed Rubes of Proper Society's new underclasses.

The biggest con job from our Overlords is that they mix-n-match small glimmers of semi-truth with a much larger portion of profound distortion of real events or totally fake/distorted conversations while (without a blink) reassure/encourage the vast majority of us Rubes with the outgrown reality, the self-deluded notion of being able to exercise our long-lost free will...the will to decide for ourselves in what is really true and which is a lie...

The core problem here lies in the fact that all we have to gauge truth/lies is completely altered by all of their clever cuts-n-pastes of transcripts, the artful spinning, the utter recreation of even nonevents that they present and (mostly) that we (the Rubes of the under classes) lack the common sense to understand that we are being given opinion(s) by people who squarely look us in the eyes and tearfully explain that they are giving us nothing but the facts, "the truth and nothing but, the truth."
When truth is no longer believed and the very stewards of truth are so tarnished and defamed by the discovery of their own participation in the spreading of untruths/transgressions and by the misspoken lies which makes them to be a major player in their own desecration; this is the time when civilization does a nose-drive into the maelstrom seas of that of a failed, Max Max-style anarchy.

"When civilization fails...it does so quickly..."

We all know that is the truth!

Look at what happened in New Orleans...at the Sugar Dome and in the flooded streets of the French quarter.

There are thousands of other cases like with the Fall of Roma or the collapse of Huey Long's Progressive Kingdom in the 1930's Deep South.

To me...in my opinion...Free Will was always a bad joke that God saddled us with at creation and which he used to explain the second fall of man in the Paradise of Eden.

Second fall?
Yes, Campers! Adan and Eve were version two of the creation of human kind as the original edition was so buggy that even God wanted us to forget about it...
The first edition was cancelled by God due to the first generation "Eve" Lilith was said to even scare Satan as she was history's first no-nonsense, fiery female role model for the strong-willed, "We Too" Movement Campers.
A very interesting story as it told of co-equal creations (man and women) and thus Lilith was strong-willed, independent woman who wasn't afraid to kick Adam's butt.

If Adam divorced her...if she left him over sexual issues in their relationship (she wanted to have sex but, Adam didn't) or if is true that God really took out a restraining order against her and had his angels (the Watchers) remove her from Eden before reinventing woman to be more docile and respectful by making her co-dependent of Adam (from his rib).

Lilith has not be totally lost to history and was for a thousand or more years used as early human's first boggy monster who came in the middle of the night to take away bad, little children...better take warning...do your homework or Lilith will surely carry you off into the night!!!

This one event demonstrates that all of the problems that woman have faced in the history of the world ties back to fearful Lilith and had Adam not been such a super Ken-like Wimp; how much different the world might have been???

In this story, it confirms that God is male as it shows here that we are truly created in his image as most older men that I know have the same hard time deal with strong-willed women...

Lilith has been much misunderstood and even the Pre-Biblical Cancel Culture discredited her to the point that they made an issue that she had large feet compared to the second edition of creation in the form of Eve who had small, dainty feet.

Thus it was reasoned that if a women had large feet then she was a descent of Lilith not Eve and as such, she must be cast out from proper society for she is surely the child of a strong, powerful evil that neither God or his former "right-hand man" Satan could handle.

This led to the practice of feet bounding in Ancient China and the ageless advice of all European Mothers to their sons "Never married a big-footed woman!"

It does help explain a lot of the reasoning behind why women, even today, are constantly lying about their shoe size. Are you taking notes?

SPIRITUAL SOVEREIGN

All this brings us back to the new rave concept of delusion that is being pawned off upon all of us, the Rubes of Proper Society's new underclasses and this is in the form of the brilliant lie of "Spiritual Sovereign."

Jean Bodin recently explained to me while we were sitting at the rear booth sharing a few bottles of aged Cuban Rum in what could be kindly referred to as a grungy little dive bar off from Sunset Boulevard's main strip; he explained that "Sovereigness" teaches us that any man or woman can be the king of their kingdom which consists (equally) of the mind, spirit, body, house, land and deeded property.

He continued by explaining that "It is thus reasoned that because you are the king, the government has no lawful right to tell you what to do, as long as you do not harm other people and their property..." He later went to prison. On the surface, this may well seem like a very ultra-right wing conspiracy theory/believe but, in fact, it is a genius lie created by the ultra-left to entrap and create mischief for those of the Libertarian believes or to create a calming sense of delusion for the underclass of working blokes. My main problem with Jean's notion(s) was that most men and women are not sovereigns because they are merely registered voters (that sounded too much like a Carl Rove soundbite on The Fox News Network or an abstract bulletin point from Senator Paul's Senate Web Page) as any political junkie worth his/her salt would counter that no one believes that the voting process is the least bit honest any more due to the hidden agenda of the voting system which is designed to trick people into giving up their crown, throne and kingdom to the government in exchange for government benefits or semi-true promises of personal safety.

This default mode of living without any clear thought,

And Campers...the true purpose of this system is to maintain the status quo as change is far too revolutionary and the enlightenment of the common masses is much too dangerous for the reality of the fragile/weak control that the Elitists have been able to use to confuse/divide all of us common Rubes in order to maintain their control/power over the majority of proper society.
While this is very far from a new concept, it is in fact, ancient in the multiple forms that it has spawned over the eons of time since Adam walked out of "a rent controlled,

For Adam this was his time where he had his own reality check, a time where he was forced to grow into his new role as the father of mankind and I am sure more than once, he actually began to miss his ex-wife and her take charge attitude. In this new world of hardship, Lilith's kickass, "nothing is gonna stop me" way of living would prove to be of a greater benefit than all of Eve's weak submission to his commands.

Samples from the new room...

The new, non-ceiling leaking lodge room cell is (I think) better as it is nearer the kitchen and the noise from that is somehow reassuring and more normal that the old room's vacuum chamber like feel but, it is also closer to the front door (the street) and I'm NOT sure but, maybe, that is to impress something more sinister than this was the only other free room other than the basement or storage lockers...Haven't figure that one out quite yet...

So, I did these instead...

Finally in a new room where (hopefully) I shall NOT fear crashing bathtubs but, it will take my a lot of therapy to get that vision out of my mind as I sat there the other night awaiting rescue by the janitor who doesn't make house calls after hours...
The visualization (you know that I am that kind of person) of may neighbor in full shower declining from my water logged ceil was NOT a pretty image and it will haunt me for years to come (see if this my get me a free month's rent??).

Not trying to be sexist...REALLY, I am NOT! but, they might want to add a male janitor who doesn't mind repair jobs to "old men's rooms..." Like just saying... Anyway, new room but, still no window...all this trauma for not... To celebrate my new dry room, I did this this morning... Time for lunch and I promise NO more Curry Pancakes!

"TRUE TO MY WORD..."

It is a little past 3 AM and it has been a sleepless night and the ceiling continues to leak into now, deep puddles.

Seeing that the Janitor said that she doesn't make house calls after hours to (as she did not kindly say) "an old man's room!"

So...she will be around later this morning hopefully before the ceiling caves in and I am crushed by my neighbor's bathtub.

"TRUE TO MY WORD..."

Maybe, this will get me a different room other than my currently windowless lodge room cell that I have been forced to reside in for almost a year now...since, we all agreed with those government clerks to give them 15-days to sort out this @#$% (can't print my actual word there in Singapore or even here in Penang) Virus Plague.

You always are asking why I call this thing a "Killer Plague Virus...

"TRUE TO MY WORD..."

You always are asking why I call this thing a "Killer Plague Virus..." Well Campers, it is not because of the old people that it has killed without rhyme or sometimes reason(s) but, more to the point on how it has destroyed our way of life and dissolved most of the freedom(s) that we once took for granted...like...are you triple masked yet with your new guru, Pappy Biden? Here is a sampler of work done tonight...

"FISHING FOR ENDORSEMENTS"

My trusty ole Panasonic CF-31 still does the job after even all of these years...still on original battery...mind ya! While rather long-in-tooth and a few dings it still does most everything that I ask it to do short of taking out the trash but, it does makes a damn decent cup of coffee... You would think that those nice Panasonic People would see how much I brag about my CF-31 and they might have been keen to throw an endorsement or even a free upgrade my way...but, until this very posting...

I have heard nothing but crickets and it ain't like Fed Express doesn't stop by this virus plague lodge like daily...just saying...!
I still have faith...as I sit by the phone...broken hearted by their continued silence...
